FACULTY/STUDENT PANEL DISCUsIONS
All panel discussions are offered at 10:45AM and 11:30AM unless noted otherwise.

1. The Arts and Humanities at Duke
Location: Von Caron, Bryan Center, Lower Level
Faculty will discuss how to maximize the arts, academic, and civic opportunities in the arts and humanities at Duke. Learn about how we connect and collaborate in arts entrepreneurship across disciplines.

2. Biology, Chemistry and Nicholas School of the Environment
Location: Griffith Film Theater, Bryan Center, 2nd Level
Learn about degrees and resources available in the Natural Sciences department and in the Nicholas School of the Environment.

3. Computer Science, Mathematics and Statistical Science
Location: Biological Sciences 111
Professors from these departments at Duke will explain how their students engage in the application of explicitly quantitative methodology to analyze problems.

4. Economics and Entrepreneurship
Location: Physics 150
Learn how Duke’s Financial Economics Concentration connects students with the financial world through teaching, research and engagement and how Duke’s Innovation and Entrepreneurship Initiative allows students to translate their ideas to make a positive impact on society.

5. Engineering
Location: Schicchiano Auditorium, Fitzpatrick Center
Duke’s Pratt School of Engineering is a vibrant teaching and research institution dedicated to training the next generation of leaders and exploring the frontiers of engineering to develop solutions to the world’s greatest challenges. We offer five majors, several certificate programs, and a minor in Energy Engineering.

6. Focus Program—Interdisciplinary Seminars for First-Year Students
Location: Physics 154
Focus offers a menu of interdisciplinary theme-based curriculum clusters. Classes are small, semester-long and mutually reinforcing, providing opportunities for discussion from multiple disciplinary perspectives. Participating students live in a residential hall with other students from the same Focus cluster.

7. Global Health
Location: Biological Sciences 130
Hear from faculty of the Duke Global Health program, one of the newest majors available to undergraduate students. The Duke Global Health Institute seeks to understand and reduce health disparities in local communities and worldwide.

Location: French Family Science Center 221
Duke offers many different programs for students to go forth into the world and return with new insights and perspectives. Learn how to incorporate off-campus experiences and civic engagement into academic choices.

9. Pre-Professional and Academic Advising
Location: Page Auditorium
Academic advising is fundamental to Duke’s educational mission. Hear from career in the Academic Advising Center who will describe advising for undergraduates, including pre-health, pre-law, and global advising.

10. Research Opportunities and Bias Connections
Location: French Family Science Center 227
Duke offers many undergraduate research opportunities in all departments and disciplines. Advising, training and funding are available. Among the opportunities, Bias Connections gives students a chance to tackle complex societal problems in interdisciplinary research teams. Students form interdisciplinary activities.

Sample Class 1 (10:45AM ONLY): “Learning from Legumes: What Evolutionary Anthropology Can Teach Us About Ourselves”
Location: Physics 128 (Seating is limited and, if necessary, priority will be given to students.)
Led by Professor of Evolutionary Anthropology Leslie Dye, learn the nuances of what evolutionary anthropologists do with special emphasis on the work that they do at the Jane Goodall Research Institute and the Duke Lemur Center.

Sample Class 2 (11:30AM ONLY): “Democracy and the ‘Will of the People’”
Location: Physics 128 (Seating is limited and, if necessary, priority will be given to students.)
Led by Professor of Political Science George Vanberg, experience an authentic classroom environment of Duke, including presentation, discussion and Q&A.
