BLUE DEVIL DAYS MOCK CLASSES (STUDENTS ONLY)

Since classes aren’t held on Sunday, we’ve created these mock classes to give you a taste of what learning in the classroom is like at Duke. Tomorrow you’ll be able to attend real classes alongside current students. Due to space limitations, please attend only one mock class.

9:00AM Computer Science and How It’s Changing Our World
Dr. Michael Gillespie, Professor of Computer Science and Philosophy

10:15AM The Relationship of Brain and Language
Dr. Michael Gillespie, Professor of Computer Science and Philosophy

11:30AM Introduction to Philosophy
Dr. Michael Gillespie, Professor of Philosophy

12:45PM Computer Science and How It’s Changing Our World

1:00PM The Relationship of Brain and Language

1:15PM Introduction to Philosophy

Advanced RSVP required.

Location:
- Lilly Library, East Campus Quad
- White Lecture Hall 107, East Campus

Note:
- Computer Science is the study of automating scalable algorithmic processes.

Description:
- Each class will be taught by a member of the Computer Science faculty and will provide a brief introduction to the field.
- You will learn about the history and current state of computer science, as well as its impact on society.
- The classes will be interactive, with opportunities for questions and discussions.

Details:
- The classes will be held from 9:00AM to 12:00PM.
- Attendance is limited to those who have RSVP’d.
- Food and drink will be provided.

Advance Registration:
- Sign up at Registration Link by April 16th.

General Information:
- See the "Campus Events" sheet in your packet.
- There is no cost to attend.

Attendees:
- Students & Parents

Advisory RSVP required.

Contact:
- Duke Student Life: [ события@duke.edu](mailto: события@duke.edu)
- Computer Science: events@cs.duke.edu